INTRODUCTION.

A VERY complete and interesting picture of agricultural life in England during the latter part of the thirteenth century, a period at which the manorial system, introduced under the Saxon rule, had in its principal features apparently undergone little change, may be obtained by a careful study of the records of that date bearing on the subject of customary tenures.

First and foremost amongst these in importance and accuracy of detail may be ranked the Inquisitiones Hundredorum, or Hundred Rolls of 7 and 8 Edward I., in which are set out with marvellous minuteness the names of all owners and occupiers of land, the quantities they held, and the rents and services rendered to them by their under-tenants of every rank or degree. These rolls, however, are extant for five counties only: those of Bedford, Buckingham, Cambridge, Huntingdon, and Oxford; and for similar information respecting the remaining counties of England recourse must be had chiefly to the invaluable series of monastic chartularies and ledger books.

Few of these can, I think, be richer in minute details respecting the amount and value of the work exacted by the lord of the manor from his tenants, the conditions under which it was to be performed, and the quantity, nature, and pecuniary value of the recompense in food or otherwise, to which the tenants were frequently entitled, than the Records of Battle Abbey reproduced in the present volume, in which several of the southern and south-eastern counties are represented.

In date they are almost contemporaneous with the Hundred Rolls before mentioned, and it is not altogether improbable that they owe their compilation to the example afforded by the Royal Commission on which those rolls were founded. The frequent repetition therein of the phrase "ut dicunt" points, moreover, to the fact that they represent the result of a careful investigation made by direction of the monastic authorities on the testimony of the tenants themselves.

The volume from which they have been transcribed is a small quarto, entitled "Liber Regius de Bello," containing 110 parchment leaves or folios, and forming vol. 57 of the Miscellaneous Books formerly belonging to the Augmentation Office.

It is made up of several portions or fragments which have at some time been brought together, probably with the view of forming a complete custumal of the possessions of the abbey, but without any order or arrangement.

The main body of the volume (fols. 23-66 inclusive) consists of Rentals and Custumals of several Manors, most of which are without date but in the handwriting of the earlier portion of the reign of Edward I., slightly rubricated.

These appear to have formed portions of a complete custumal, part of which, however, seems to have been wanting at a very early period, the defect being to some extent supplied by the insertion of several folios of a smaller copy of the same custumal, evidently the original or draft from which the rubricated copy was transcribed. Thus, on folio 42 of the MS. the "Rents and Services of the Manor of Bromeham" break off suddenly with the note, in an almost contemporaneous hand, "Quære in alio parvo quaterno," the following folios, numbered 43 to 54, belonging to the "Parvus Quaternus" indicated by the note, and containing, in addition to the missing portion of the Rents and Services of Bromeham, duplicates of several of the other customals. Two of these, relating to the Manors of Hoton and Brithwolton respectively, are dated in the twelfth year of Edward I., which may therefore be fairly assumed to have been the date, approximately, both of the original and rubricated copies.

This portion of the manuscript includes Rentals and Customals of the following Manors, all of which are printed in the present volume, as far as possible from the portions of the rubricated customal, those marked * appearing also in the draft or smaller copy:

- Alsiston, co. Sussex,
- Dengemarsh, co. Kent,
- Apledreham, co. Sussex,
- * Brithwolton, co. Berks,
- * Bromeham, co. Wilts (a portion in each copy),
- * Anesty, co. Hants,
- * Crowmarsh, co. Oxon,
- * Hoton, co. Essex,
- Wye, co. Kent.

The remainder of the volume is made up as follows:

Fols. 1-22. Transcripts in the handwriting of Edward III. of several Rentals, &c., which apparently belong to a much earlier period. These include:

Imperfect Rentals of several boroughs within the Hundred of Battle.

An imperfect Rental and Customal of the Manor of Merle or Marley, co. Sussex, belonging apparently to the reign of Edward I.; and an Extent and Custumal of the Manor of Bernehorne, co. Sussex, dated 35 Edward I.

Fols. 67-72. An Extent and Custumal of the Manors of Limpsfield and Brodeham, co. Surrey, dated 5 Edward II. (An imperfect copy of this extent appears in a later portion of the volume.)

Fols. 76-85. Rentals of the Manors of Limpsfield and Anesty, dated 15 and 24 Edward [III.] respectively.

Fols. 86-110. An Extent of the Manor of Hoton, and imperfect Extents of the Manors of Limpsfield and Brodeham, and of Wye, all of which belong to the fifth year of Edward II.

On the blank pages of the earlier portions of the MS. have been entered brief abstracts of Rentals and other memoranda of various dates, some of which are as late as the reign of Richard II., and many of the Rentals and Custumals throughout the volume have been corrected in later hands by the insertion of the names of new tenants and other alterations.

From the later portions of the manuscript the following documents have been selected for publication, so as to reconstruct as far as possible a complete Custumal of the possessions of the Abbey, at the same time avoiding any unnecessary repetition:

The Rental and Custumal of

Merle or Marley, co. Sussex, and the Extents and Custumals of Bernehorne, co. Sussex,

and Limpsfield and Brodeham, co. Surrey.

The Rental of Wye has also been supplemented by an extract relating to the customs of that manor selected from a small volume of collections concerning Battle Abbey, belonging apparently to the reign of Henry III., and forming vol. 18 of the series of Miscellaneous Books before referred to.

In the present volume the several Rentals and Custumals are presented in the order in which they occur in the original manuscript, the various alterations and additions being indicated by italics.

An analysis of the several Custumals, &c., is subjoined, in which the general character of the services rendered in each manor is described in detail, with such notes and explanations of the text as have been considered necessary.

The principal features of the manorial system as therein illustrated may be briefly summarized as follows—it being premised that the manors under review being all subject to ecclesiastical lordship, the more servile tenures would probably in them be less liable to change or extinction than in manors owned by laymen, whose necessities would render them more eager to commute agricultural services into money payments than the ecclesiastics, whilst at the same time they would be less hampered by considerations of the interests of their successors. This is well illustrated by a comparison of the customary services detailed in the present volume with those specified in a later Custumal of Battle Abbey (Aug. Off. Misc. Books, vol. 56), compiled early in the reign of Henry VI., or about 150 years afterwards, which in many instances exhibit hardly any variation.

The manor itself appears to have consisted invariably of two portions.

(1.) The Demesne Lands, or lands reserved for the lord's own use and cultivated to a certain extent by his own teams and servants.

(2.) The Assised Lands, or lands let out to tenants, either on payment of rent alone or of rent in combination with certain services in cultivation of the demesne or otherwise.

The demesne lands generally included the woods and waste of the manor, in which, however, the tenants had rights of pasture under certain conditions. The cultivated portions of the demesne did not always form a farm by themselves distinct and separate from the lands of the tenants, but appear to have been frequently intermixed with them and scattered in various fields and closes or crofts. It is probable, however, that the lords of the manor endeavoured from time to time, as favourable circumstances arose, to consolidate the demesne by forming large enclosures.

In the Extent of Limenesfeld, for instance, part of the demesne is described as consisting of "acræ separales," lying in certain fields called Horscroftes, whilst another portion, containing 140 acres, is stated to be "infra unum clausum et procinctum"; and in the Manor of Merle most of the tenants were required to undertake a certain quantity of hedging called "Gavelmerke," which probably separated the assised lands from those of the demesne.

The tenants consisted of four principal classes, all of whom were required, proportionately to their holdings and condition, to assist, either personally or by deputy, in the cultivation of the lord's demesne. These were,

1. Liberi Tenentes.
2. Villani or Custumarii.
3. Cottarii.
4. Coterelli and Coteriæ.

The Liberi Tenentes, or "Libere Tenentes" as they are generally called, were sometimes, as their name implies, absolute freeholders, being at liberty to give up or transfer their holdings and to quit the manor at pleasure, and subject to no control by the manorial lord. In the manors under consideration they appear, however, to have been almost all what may be termed "customary freeholders," who, in addition to the performance of certain common services, were subject to the payment of heriots and reliefs on change of tenure, and probably consisted of such villani as had been partially enfranchised by the commutation of the greater part of their services into rent.

In many instances they were holders of comparatively small quantities of land, probably such portions as were from time to time severed from the demesne, or acquired by the assarting or reclamation of waste lands; and it occasionally happens that a villanus or customary tenant appears amongst the Liberi Tenentes as holding such lands in addition to those held by him in villenage.

The Villani or Custumarii included all those tenants above the rank of cottars who rendered common or villein services, and consisted of the “nativi” or villeins born on the manor, with such outside tenants or “forinseci” as held lands therein for which customary services were due.

The Nativi were so far serfs that they could not quit the manor against the lord’s will, and were restricted from giving their daughters in marriage beyond the liberty of the manor, or from allowing their sons to become priests, and even from selling their cattle without the lord’s license, for by any of these acts his interests might be prejudicially affected.

The tenants in villenage are variously designated according to their holdings, in some manors the tenures being much smaller than in others. Sometimes they are classified as Liberi and Nativi only, the number of acres held by each being severally specified, whilst in others the minor sub-divisions are noticed. In that of Bromeham, for instance, the following distinctions are given:—

Liberi Tenentes.

Virgarii or Majores Erdlinges.

Minores Erdlinges.

Half-Erdlinges or Majores Cottarii.

Minores Cottarii.

Cotteriæ.

The Cottarii were ranked apart from the customary tenants, although they frequently rendered similar services, and were under the same restrictions as the Nativi. As a general rule the Cottarius held about four acres of land, though in some instances tenants of as much as fifteen acres are thus described.

The Coterellus was a smaller cottar who seldom held more than one or two acres, whilst the Cotteria appears to have been a cottager without land at all. It is probable that both these classes served as labourers under the larger tenants.

The services to be rendered by the tenants were of four kinds.

1. Precariæ, works done by special request or "ad precem."
2. Opera Diurna, daily works or "week-work," consisting of so many days a week.
3. Averagia, or carrying services.
4. Occasional works, as in thrashing, mowing, sheep-shearing, &c.

The Precariæ were required at the seasons of ploughing and harvest. There were two "Precariæ Carucarum," one at the Winter and one at the Lenten ploughing and sowing, to which all the tenants who possessed any part of a team were generally summoned. Each tenant was frequently bound to plough in addition one acre in summer for lying fallow.

The harvest or autumnal Precariæ were usually of three days' duration; on the second day and also on the third, or "Magna Precaria," an increased attendance being generally due. A fourth Precaria was sometimes added called "Hungerbedrip," probably because on that occasion food was always supplied by the lord.

In the Manor of Hoton the tenants say that at the close of the third Precaria they were "solemniter depasti," a phrase which suggests the modern harvest-supper.

The Opera Diurna, or daily works, were as a rule required in their full extent only from the Cottarii and minor tenants.

Occasionally, however, the Virgarii also performed partial work of this kind, for which they generally received a reduction of rent.

Full week-work usually consisted of three days a week from Michaelmas to the following August, and from August 1 to Michaelmas, of five days a week, Saturday being always excepted. In partial week-work the tenant worked only from morning till noon, or from noon till evening during the foregoing period. From the smaller cottars only one day's work a week appears to have been required.

During the weeks of Easter, Pentecost, and Michaelmas daily works were generally discontinued, except in cases of necessity.

The Averagia or services in carrying formed a very important branch of the manorial customs, and must have pressed on the tenants rather severely, as, in addition to the ordinary farming operations, they were frequently called upon to undertake long journeys from town to town, or from the outlying manors to the Abbey with salt, herrings, corn, and other provisions.

In the Manor of Wye ten Averagia of corn and barley to Battle were performed every Saturday, each consisting of half a seam or four bushels of grain, the total amount carried consisting of 264 seams or 2112 bushels.

The Occasional services were of various kinds and degrees, consisting, inter alia, of an additional day's ploughing, generally called "Graserthe" or Graze-earth, one or two day's hoeing, mowing in the lord's meadow and lifting and carrying the hay, reaping and binding an additional acre at harvest-time, carting and spreading manure, sheep-washing and shearing, thrashing, and various minor services such as ditching, carrying the lord's sheepfold when required, and gathering nuts, &c. &c.

In addition to their rents and services various dues were also rendered by the tenants in villenage, as of hens and eggs at Christmas and Easter respectively, cherset or churchshot, hearthpenny, Romescot, &c. &c., which are noticed more fully in the Analysis.

It would be foreign to the scope of the present Introduction to attempt a comparison of the status of the English peasant of the thirteenth century with that of his modern compeer, but a careful perusal of the details now brought forward can, I think, hardly fail to impress on the reader that his condition was not one of such abject serfdom as is often supposed. The services which he was bound to render to his lord were neither excessive in quantity nor without a certain amount of recompense, especially in the matter of food, the supply of which appears to have been on a most liberal scale. In the case of some of the minor services the food is indeed occasionally stated to be worth more than the work, and the lord to be a loser in consequence. Those who filled the several offices of præpositus or foreman, carucarius, shepherd, swineherd, &c., and who were generally chosen by the lord of the manor from the customary tenants, had due allowance made to them either in reduced rental or in exemption from other services, in one instance the lord even undertaking to plough for two of such officers a certain number of acres with his own team whilst they were, it may be supposed, occupied in his affairs. With the one exception of the restrictions imposed on the personal liberty of most of the villein tenants, the reasons for which are, however, obvious, the manorial system appears in fact to have constituted originally a fair and equitable scheme of co-operative industry, and to have maintained that character to a great extent throughout its subsequent modifications.

If I have succeeded in placing the materials contained in the present volume before the reader in a clear and intelligible form, the task I have set myself will be accomplished, and I shall be content to leave to other and abler hands the construction of the historical edifice, for which I trust they will be thus rendered more easily available.

The much-abbreviated Latin of the original MS. has been, as far as possible, extended in the transcript, and I venture to hope that, with the aid of the glossary at the end of the volume, a mass of interesting information will be thereby thrown open to the general reader to whom the Latin of monkish scribes, in its original garb, is often a comparatively unknown tongue.

A few errata, which have almost unavoidably crept into the text, are noticed at the end of the Analysis, to which the attention of the reader is now invited, in the hope that its perusal may be sufficiently interesting to lead him to a closer study of the text than the limited amount of time at my disposal has permitted.

ANALYSIS AND NOTES.

MERLE OR MARLEY, CO. SUSSEX. Pp. 1-16.

The Rental and Custumal of Merle is without heading or date and appears to be a transcript, made about the reign of Edward III., of a much earlier Custumal in which many corrections and additions have been made by the insertion of the names of new tenants, &c. In the present volume these alterations are indicated by being printed in italics.

It commences with an account of the rents due from certain tenements described as "Terra Bovis" (consisting apparently of lands, &c., formerly belonging to the fee of Walter de Bæuf, one of the early benefactors of the Abbey), and from lands in the hands of the Custos or Keeper of Merle, for the rent of which he is responsible.

Then follow the names and tenures of 16 tenants in villenage, subsequently described as "Nativi," who hold between them $9\frac{1}{2}$ wistas or virgates, the rents and services due from each being fully described, as also those due from $3\frac{3}{4}$ wistas "devoluta" or fallen in to the Manor, for which the Custos performs the services, and from $\frac{1}{2}$ wista "included in the new park of Bromeham."

The term "Wista" seems to be peculiar to some of the Sussex manors and is equivalent to the "Virgate" of other counties, as appears from the following memorandum, in a somewhat later hand, on folio 60 of the MS. :

"Nota quod virgata terræ et wysta idem sunt et unum significant:

Virgata seu wysta est sextadecima pars unius feodi militis:

Quatuor virgatæ seu wystæ faciunt unam hydram:

Quatuor hydæ faciunt unum feodum militis."

There were also "Magnæ Wistæ," each of which appears to have been, as regards services at least, equivalent to half a hide. (Vide Custumal of Alsiston, p. 29.)

Most of the foregoing tenants in addition to their rent paid Herthyeld and Romescot, that is, Hearth-penny and Peter's Pence, and also a stated sum, "ad stipendium Præpositi."

The following, with occasional slight variations, were the services due from each tenant of half a wista or virgate, the tenants of entire wistas rendering double services.

It will be remarked that in this Manor loaves and herrings appear to have been regarded as the standard of value, 4 loaves "de majoribus," or 6 "de minoribus," and 12 herrings being each equivalent to 1 d.

As, however, in some cases the fractional part of a herring is brought into requisition to represent the amount of recompense due for certain services (one tenant being entitled to receive a loaf and a quarter and the fourth part of three herrings), the payment could hardly have been made invariably in kind.

To carry 2 ambraë, 2 bushels and a half of salt (i.e. $10\frac{1}{2}$ bushels), receiving therefor 7 loaves and a half valued at $1\frac{1}{4}$ d. ;

To carry 1000 herrings from Winchelsea, Hastings, or Bolwareheth, to the Abbey, receiving 2 loaves and 6 herrings valued at $\frac{3}{4}$ d. ;

To plough an acre and a quarter of land (the ploughing of an acre being valued at 12 d.),* receiving 2 loaves and a half and 7 herrings and a half, valued at 1d.;

To find a man to mow and spread hay for two days, receiving each day 2 loaves and a half, soup, drink (generally 1 gallon), $\frac{1}{2}$ a dish or mess of meat (medietatem unius ferculi), and cheese, valued altogether at 2 d. per diem;

To carry 3 loads of hay from the meadow to the Abbey, receiving 3 loaves and 9 herrings or whittings (merleng');

To provide a cart with two oxen to carry the manure from the Abbey (a service which usually occupied two days), and on the second day to find a labourer to fill the cart, the driver and labourer receiving their food in the common hall;

To find one man to work in the garden or elsewhere for 30 days during the year, a whole day's work between Michaelmas and Hockday being reckoned as a work and a half, and between Hockday and Michaelmas as two works, each work being valued at $\frac{3}{4}$ d., and the tenant receiving for the whole $32\frac{1}{2}$ loaves, value 8 d.

To enclose 5 rods (virgatas) of fence called "Gavelmerke," † receiving 1 loaf and 3 herrings.

The value of the foregoing services, exclusive of the food, is estimated at 6 s. per annum.

Several of the tenants were in addition to attend two "precariæ carucarum" in the year, that is to say, the Winter and Lenten ploughings respectively, "cum caruca sua," with their plough-teams; those, however, who did not possess an entire team were to send all the oxen they had with one man in charge thereof, who,

* The value of this service appears to have been greatly over-estimated. In the Extents contained in the present volume the arable land is generally said to be worth only from 5 d. to 12 d. per acre. This may however represent the nett value, over and above the expense of cultivation.

† It seems probable that the term "Gavelmerke" indicates the division or boundary between the "gafol-land," or land let to the tenants and the lord's demesne.

if not employed as a ploughman, was to perform whatever services were required of him until the teams were discharged, “usque ad disjunctionem carucarum.”

Moreover, all the aforesaid “nativi” were to carry one half the Abbot’s wine from Winchelsea to Battle, the Custos of Merle providing for the carriage of the other half.

The amount of wine to be carried was estimated at 15 casks in ordinary years, the tenants contributing to the performance of this service in proportion to their holdings, one providing “a man and two oxen,” another “half a man and one ox,” another “half an ox,” so that considerable ingenuity must have been exercised in carrying out the co-operation.

For the carriage of each cask, which was valued at 5 s. the tenants were to receive 40 large loaves worth 10 d. and six-score herrings worth 10 d., the carriage of a cask being thus worth 3 s. 4 d. clear, and the whole service worth 50 s.

BERNEHORNE, Co. SUSSEX. Pp. 17-25.

The Rental or Custumal of Bernehorne is preceded by an Extent or Valuation of the Manor dated 35 Edward I., from which the Demesne appears to have consisted of 464 acres 3 roods of arable land ; *

13 acres 1 rood of meadow ; and

12 acres of wood.

The arable land is subdivided into “Terra Maritima,” land near the sea-shore, or salt marshes, of which there were 167 acres 3 roods, valued at 12 d. per acre;

“Terra Brocalis,” woody or marshy ground, of which there were

* By an error in the original MS. this total is given as 444 acres, 3 roods.

101 acres, said to be worth 4 d. an acre; but, "si fuerint competenter assewiatae," if they were sufficiently drained, each acre would be worth 10 d.;

And "Terra Susana, et Campestris," unsound and uncultivated lands or flats, worth from 3 d. to 6 d. an acre, of which there were 196 acres.

Besides the foregoing, there were 193 acres of Assised lands, of which:

8 Liberi Tenentes held together 48 acres, 40 acres being held by one tenant;

7 Nativi held 132 acres; and 18 Coterelli about 13 acres.

Three of the Nativi held each a messuage and 30 acres of land, and from each of them the following services were due:

To harrow for 2 days at the Lenten sowing, with one man and his own horse and harrow, receiving 3 meals each day (the work is valued at 4 d. and the food at 5 d.* "et sic erit dominus perdens 1 d.")

To carry manure for two days, with a cart and two oxen, receiving food as before;

To find a man to mow for two days receiving food as above; it is estimated that he can mow $1\frac{1}{2}$ acres in the two days;

To gather and lift the hay so mown, receiving 2 meals for one man;

To carry the lord's hay for one day with a cart and three of the tenant's own beasts, receiving 3 meals as before;

To carry beans or oats for two days in the autumn, and wood for two days in the summer, in the same manner and with the same food as before;

To find a man for two days to cut down heath, receiving 3 meals a day (this service is also stated to be of less value than the food);

* The value of the meals is given in the original MS. as iij d., which, by comparison with subsequent entries, is clearly an error; the figures moreover are written over an erasure and appear to be a subsequent interpolation.

To carry away the heath when cut, receiving 3 meals, valued at $2\frac{1}{2}$ d. ;

To carry wheat to Battle twice in the summer, on each occasion half a seam or load, for which he is to receive each time one meal, the value of the food being 2 d.

It will be observed that no mention is made in the foregoing services of either ploughing or reaping ; this may be accounted for by the uncultivated character of the greater portion of the demesne, for the rest of which the lord's own teams would probably suffice.

All the Nativi were forbidden to give their daughters in marriage (beyond the limits of the manor), or to cause their sons to become priests (facere filios suos coronari), without the licence of the lord ; nor could they cut down the timber growing on their several tenements without the licence and approval of the Bailiff or Sergeant of the manor, and then only for building purposes.

On the death of any Nativus the lord was to receive his best animal as heriot (but if he had no living animal no heriot was taken), and a year's rent was to be paid by his heirs as a fine "pro ingressu."

The Coterelli rendered no services on their own account, being probably labourers under the larger tenants, but were subject to the same restrictions as the Nativi and also to the same heriots and fines.

A similar extent is appended of certain tenements belonging to the Manor of Bixle acquired from the Bishop of Chichester.

ALSISTUN, CO. SUSSEX. Pp. 26-41.

In the Rental of Alsistun 15 customary tenants are specified, 9 of whom held half a hide each, the remaining tenures being as follows:

1 hide,
 $\frac{1}{2}$ hide and 1 wista,
1 wista and one great wista,
3 wistas and 1 great wista,
1 wista,
1 wista.

The Præpositus of the Manor also held 1 wista, for which he rendered no service so long as he retained his office.

The following services were due from each half-hide and one-half thereof from each wista or quarter-hide :

Every half-hide owed to the lord, on every working day, the services of one man, who was to do whatever should be required of him; the amount of labour representing a "fair day's work" being thus specified :

If thrashing was required three men ought to thrash in a day half a seam and half a bushel (= $4\frac{1}{2}$ bushels) of corn, or two men half a seam (4 bushels) of barley, or each man 6 bushels of oats ; and of beans and vetches the same quantity as of corn ;

They were to thrash in whatever barn they might be directed to do (so long as it was within the boundaries of the manor), and to winnow what they had thrashed and carry it to the granary, and if it were far to the granary to employ their cattle in carrying it ;

If ditching (opus fossorium) was required, two men were to make in a day 1 perch of new ditch, 5 feet in width, or each man to repair 1 perch of old ;

If other work was required of them they were to work until their fellows had finished their work in the barn ;

In ploughing and harrowing they were to work till it was time to unharness the plough ;

When they had to break clods (torrare), to wash or shear sheep, to hoe corn, and to mow or gather hay, they were to work the whole day except the dinner-hour ;

In addition to the ordinary day-work each half-hide was to find a man for one day to gather the hay ; and also a man to mow and cock hay for one day ; and they were to carry the whole of the hay, each half-hide with two oxen ;

If necessary each half-hide was to find two men to reap in the lord's field, receiving therefor every tenth sheaf,—or, if the lord should prefer it, each half-hide was to reap in a day an acre of corn or oats or half an acre of barley or vetches with as many men as they chose, receiving every tenth sheaf ;

They were to carry all the corn, each half-hide with two oxen ;

Also each half-hide was to find two men and two oxen to cart manure till it was all carted away ;

To plough one acre for corn once and to sow half of it, providing the seed ;

To plough one acre for barley twice, and two acres for oats once, to carry the seed for the same from the granary to the field, and to harrow the same ;

Every half-hide was also to carry 4 loads of wood yearly to the lord's hearth, and when he was building, a cart-load of timber ;

If it were necessary to fetch grain from Seford or elsewhere near, each half-hide was to go with one beast twice a-day, or if further, once a-day, such service being reckoned as one day's work ;

Each was also to provide and make four rafters (cheveruns) with the appurtenances, and the roofing for the lord's sheep-cote (ad hlosam domini), except with great timber, this being reckoned as two days' work ;

Also to carry to Battle every Monday ; if, however, the tenant's mare was dead or foaling, he was to be quit from one "averagium," but he was to work instead.

The tenants were also to carry wheresoever and whensoever required, but, unless they could return home at nightfall, at the lord's expense ; and when they were employed in carrying service or in ploughing they were free from day work ; and, in autumn, if they had carried three loads of grain and were hindered by the rain from carrying more, they were quit of work for that day ; but if less than three loads, they were to thrash or to perform any other work that might be required of them.

The two Great Wistas were to render the same services as half a hide except that they did not reap nor thrash ; each of them was, however, to fetch a cart-load of timber for making ploughs ; and upon them devolved the duty of sheltering the guests of the Abbot or of the monks and their horses ; they were also to drive the lord's swine to and from the wood at Battle or Limenesfeld.

There were also 4 Cottarii in Alsistun, whose holdings are not specified, from whom the following services were required :

From Michaelmas to hoeing-time (usque ad tempus sarculationis) to perform two days' work a week, namely on Monday and Wednesday, and (as they say) to do no other works except to thrash, to break clods, and to spread hay when necessary ;

At Christmas each was to carry to Battle 12 hens, and at Easter 250 eggs, and they were to be free from work for 12 days at Christmas and "a die Paraceves," from Holy Friday to the Octaves of Easter ;

They were to hoe whenever there was anything to be hoed, to attend the sheep-shearing, and at hay-time and harvest each to find one man for the whole time.

Four more Cottarii were to assist in getting in the hay and to have 4 days' food each ; three others to perform the same service with two days' food each ; and one more to stack grain, receiving food for two days.

The tenants of 6 half-hides in Teletun, 1 in Cloppham, 1 hide and 4 half-hides in Lullinton, and 5 half-hides in Alurichtun, rendered similar services to those of the half-hides of Alsistun, all the tenants being moreover required, whensoever they brewed, to send to the Court of Alsistun a pitcher of ale holding at least 2 gallons, receiving in return a small loaf.

There were also 15 tenants in Blechintun, two of whom held half hides, 9 one wista each, and 4 half a wista each.

These in addition to their rents owed, in common, 11 d. at the Feast of St. Thomas towards the repair of the sheep-cote ;

They were to find 11 men to carry hay from the Brocus de Lullinton for one day;

To perform 12 "averagia" of corn from Seford to Alsistun; and, in common, to plough $1\frac{1}{2}$ acre about the Feast of the Purification (Feb. 2); but because they were a long way from the Abbot's demesne they were accustomed to compound with the Bailiff of Alsistun for the said ploughing by a fine of 3 s. and afterwards of 4 s.

Two other tenants holding half a wista each owed in addition to their rent 1000 herrings at Lent, to be chosen by the Serjeant or Bailiff and carried by them to the Court of Alsistun (afterwards commuted into a payment of 13 s. for both the rent and the herrings).

In Bocholt four tenements are described as being held by "Tenentes de Boscagio," and probably consisted of assart lands.

Two of these tenants held jointly one wista, and in addition to certain other services are stated to owe "in Quadragesima l. Tyndag'."

In the Extent of Limenesfeld (p. 150) the Semen Quadragesimale or Lenten sowing is called "Tyndesawe." It is possible, therefore, that the "Tyndag" in the passage above quoted means a day's sowing in Lent, and that l. has been written in error for j. in transcribing this portion from the original or draft custumal.

DYNGEMARIS, CO. KENT. Pp. 42-52.

In the Rental of Dyngemaris or Dengemarsch, which was a member of the Manor of Wy, a list is given of the tenants, with the rents paid by them at the four usual terms, but the amount of their respective tenures is not specified nor are the tenants classified in any way. It may be noticed that in many instances the rent is stated to be due from a certain tenant, "et participes ejus," thus indicating the existence of joint tenures.

In addition to his rent each tenant paid "Hertheld," or Hearth-penny, at the Feast of St. Thomas the Apostle, and Romescot, or Peter's Pence, at that of St. Peter ad Vincula, the latter payment being generally so much "cum uxore," but occasionally "cum uxore et sine." Several of the tenants also paid 2 d. at Michaelmas as "Turfeld."

The rental concludes with the rents due for "kydellis," i.e., kiddles, a species of fishing-net.

The services and customs of this manor appear to have been of the slightest possible description.

The tenants say that there were 36 acres of "Gavelmed" in the manor, and that whoever held an acre of Gavelmed was entitled to a reduction of 2 d. from his Michaelmas rent.

Those, however, who held the Gavelmed were to do an averagium twice a year if the Abbot should come there, that is, they were to find 12 horses, with men in charge thereof, to carry bread from Wy but not to carry liquor; but from Romenal and Wynchelsea they were to carry all kinds of victuals, including ale.

The Cotarii, moreover, were each to carry 4 gallons of ale or wine from Winchelsea or Romenal, for which they were to have pasturage for five sheep and their other animals on a certain portion of the cliffs ("à Chrokepole usque Bocteswall").

If, however, the lord did not come, each of the aforesaid tenants was to pay 1 d. per annum in lieu of the said service.

Each tenant of an acre of "Gavelmed" was to have 16 sheep on the cliff, within certain metes and bounds, and those who held less than an acre a proportionate number.

From the time of the Annunciation (Mar. 25) till after the mowing the meadows of Gavelmed were "in defenso."

It is stated, however, that the above-mentioned averagia, both by the Custumarii and others, must be taken into consideration, inasmuch as they (the tenants) claim pasturage on the cliff whether they render such services or not.

APELDREHAM, CO. SUSSEX. Pp. 53-57.

A Custumal only of this Manor is given, the tenants being classified as Yherdlinges, Cottarii Majores, and Cottarii Minores.

Ten tenants holding from a virgate to $1\frac{1}{2}$ virgate each are described as "Yherdlinges."

These were to plough 22 acres for wheat and 22 for oats, and to harrow them, and meanwhile to do no other services ;

When that had been done they were to find daily two horses for harrowing so long as the lord had anything to sow, receiving two meals a day, and their horses a double handful of provender ;

They were to render carrying service whenever necessary from La Delle to the Manor Court, and from the Manor to Chichester and back again if need be, but not to pass the gates of the city unless by their own wish ;

They were also to carry to Winchester every year on the arrival of the Chamberlain of Battle, and to bring at their own expense the Chamberlain's goods to Alsiston ;

The Præpositus, however, was quit from all carrying service ;

They were also to plough for lying fallow (warectare) 11 acres in summer ;

Each holder of a virgate was to cart manure sufficient for half an acre, and to spread it, and the others more or less in proportion to their holdings ;

All the custumarii were twice a year, if called upon, to do a benerthe or ploughing service, that is those who possessed plough-teams or any part thereof ;

They were also to hoe $5\frac{1}{2}$ acres of corn, $5\frac{1}{2}$ acres of barley, and as much of oats, and to reap and bind and stook (coppare), and to carry throughout the autumn as often as called upon ;

Every tenant of an entire virgate was to find two men to reap at each of the three autumn precaria, receiving each day a specified quantity of food, that is to say, each was to have a loaf of the weight of 18 lbs. of

*was (et habebunt singuli singulos panes ponderis xvij^{li} cere), and every two (duo duo) a dish of meat of the value of j d. and soup or broth at the first precaria; at the second, however, the bread was to be half of wheat and half of barley, but at the third entirely of wheat. At a fourth precaria, called "Hungerbedrip," all the lord's tenants (with one exception) were to find one man who was to receive food once a day;

Each tenant of a virgate was also to thrash, winnow, and carry to the granary four bushels of wheat, and if necessary to sow whenever called upon.

Nine other tenants are described as "Cottarii Majores," each holding 4 acres.

These were to perform three days' work a week, from the Feast of St. Matthew to that of St. Peter ad Vincula (Sept. 21 to Aug. 1), except in the weeks of Christmas, Easter, and Pentecost, during which time they were only to thrash out sufficient forage for the beasts if it should be necessary to do so; from Aug. 1 to Sept. 21, however, they were to work every day except Saturday.

A day's work in thrashing comprised a "werkhop" (2½ bushels) of hard grain, that is to say, of corn, beans, or vetches; but two "werkshops" of barley, and of oats four.

Three "lyneæ" of manure were to be spread as two days' work; and in gathering straw or stubble 50 sheaves were to be gathered as a day's work, one sheaf being retained by the tenant.

The foregoing tenants were all to break clods for one day after dinner (post prandium).

They were also to carry the lord's sheepfold wherever required, and to raise it, each carrying two hurdles with the stakes.

* By the Assize of Weights and Measures (Stat. of the Realm, vol. i. p. 204) it was ordained that an English penny sterling should weigh 32 grains of wheat, "dry in the midst of the ear"; that 20 pence should make 1 oz., and 12 oz. or 20 sterling shillings one pound—that is to say, a pound of pence or of spices, confections, &c. A pound of all other things, however, amongst which was is specially mentioned, consisted of 25 shillings or 15 oz.

Whosoever possessed a cow was to reap and bind an acre for the said cow.

The "Cottarii Minores" were six in number. Their services were similar to those of the other Cottars, but each of them did only one day's work a week; and in carrying the sheepfold they carried only one hurdle each.

All the Cottarii were to render at the three first precariæ in autumn the same services as the holders of Virgates.

Moreover, all the customary tenants were to mow, spread, gather and carry the hay from the meadow of Suthmed, and to have 6 bushels of corn and two sheep "de consuetudine."

They were also to wash and shear the lord's sheep, and to have the "lockes de ventre."

The "Bercarius," who was one of the Cottarii, had the care of the lord's sheep, and was quit of all works in the meantime, except harvest work in autumn.

The lord of the manor was bound to plough with his teams for the "Bercarius" and "Porcarius," respectively, two acres at the winter sowing and two at the Lenten sowing, and each of them was to reap and bind an acre of corn, an acre of barley, half an acre of beans, and an acre of oats.

Four tenants held "Coteriæ," or cottages only, for which they owed the services of one man at the "Hungerbedrip."

BRITHWOLTON, CO. BERKS. Pp. 58-71.

In the Rental and Custumal of Brithwolton the rents and services of the Liberi Tenentes, Virgarii, Cottarii, and Cottericiæ are severally specified. Then follows an enumeration of the rents due from a certain tenement called "Tenementum de Fraxino," held by the Abbot on lease from Elyas, filius Alwyni de Limenesfeld, in exchange for certain other tenements, and of rents and services in Hertle and Covenholte belonging to the said manor.

Under the heading "Isti tenent libere" appear the names of six tenants, two of whom (who held portions of the tenement de Fraxino above referred to) are further described as "Villani Domini." A third tenant was the parson of Brithwolton, who held a virgate of land at the annual rent of 1 s.

The first named of the aforesaid free tenants, who held $14\frac{1}{2}$ acres of assart lands, was to attend the three autumnal Precariæ, the first by one man, the second by two, and the third with his whole household, and also to come with his plough-team to three Precariæ at the bidding of the serjeant.

The parson and one other tenant were to have the whole of their households present at the Great Precaria in the autumn; nor was any one to reap on the day in which the lord held the Great Precaria, except in the lord's field.

Ten "Virgarii" held each a virgate of land at a rent of 5 s. 4 d. per annum. In addition each held in common an acre of "Greneholt," for which he paid a further sum of 4 d. per annum.

Every Virgarius who had cattle for ploughing, "whether an ox, a mare, or a cow," was to plough half an acre in winter, and in summer half an acre for fallow, the said ploughing being called "Grasacra";

He was also to plough and harrow an acre called "Nedacra," although he had no animals for ploughing, or else to give three hens and a cock as churchshot, whichever the lord should prefer; and each of them was to give for every animal he had of the age of two years and upwards a penny at the Feast of St. John the Baptist, which was called "Lesselver";

Each was to come to three Precariæ with his plough-team at the bidding of the serjeant; those who had an entire team ploughing an acre in winter, another in Lent, and a third in summer for lying fallow, and those who had less than an entire team ploughing and harrowing in proportion;

Each of them was also to find a man to wash and shear sheep when necessary, and one man to hoe for three days from morning till evening ;

They were together to mow the whole of the lord's meadow land, and (with the aid of the other customary tenants) to carry the hay ; for this they were to receive a sheep (the lord taking the right shoulder), and to have salt for the salting thereof ;

Each was to send one man to the first autumnal Precaria, two to the second, and to attend the third with his whole household ; and to carry the lord's corn to the Court for one whole day in the autumn ;

They were also to gather nuts "ad medietatem," i.e., retaining half the quantity gathered ; to give pannage for their swine ; and to carry the lord's sheepfold at the bidding of the serjeant, three times a year, wherever required.

For none of the foregoing services were they to receive any remission of rent.

If day-work was required of them, each was to work from the Feast of St. John the Baptist to Gula Augusti (June 24 to August 1), every other day—and from August 1 to Michaelmas, every day—from morning till noon.

In reaping each was to reap and bind half an acre as a day's work, and to receive a sheaf of the grain "per corrigiam unius rectæ ulnæ et unius quarteriæ illius," such as could be contained in a band of the length of an ell and a quarter.

If the said day-work was fully performed each was to have a reduction of 12 d. from his rent.

Seventeen tenants are described as "Cottarii," each of whom held half a virgate at a rent of 2 s. 4 d. per annum, or by the performance of the services below described. Two of them paid an additional 2 s. per annum to escape the work. Each tenant also paid 4 d. in addition to his rent for an acre of "Greneholte," held by him in common with the others, but no remission was to be made of this sum for any services rendered.

If the aforesaid tenants did works they were to work from Michaelmas to August 1, every other day except Saturday—and from August 1 to Michaelmas, every day except Saturday—from morning to noon: for this each was to receive a reduction of 2 s. of his rent.

If any of them should be chosen by the lord as Carucarius, or to any other office, he was to have a reduction of 2 s.

Each of them was to give 3 hens and a cock as churchshot (cherset), and to give pannage for his swine.

They were in addition to wash and shear sheep, and to perform the other services rendered by the Virgarii, except that they did not plough the “Benacre,” nor carry in the autumn, nor mow nor harrow; for these “common services” they were not to receive any reduction of rent.

It will be observed that the day-work, although its full performance resulted in almost annihilating the rent, could not be escaped without a heavy additional payment.

Twenty-eight tenants, stated to be “also Villani,” held assart lands called “Gavelland” at fixed rentals, and without special services.

There were also four tenants of “Cotteriæ” under like conditions.

No customary tenant was to have any relaxation of rent for lands held by him “de assarto” or “in communi de Greneholte,” in consideration of any office held or service rendered.

All the tenants of the manor, both free tenants and others, were to plough at three “benerthes,” and those who had plough-teams, whenever called upon.

All the Virgarii and the tenants of assart lands were to harrow in Lent at the bidding of the serjeant, and he who had no horse (except in the case of the Cottarii) was to procure one for the purpose; for this they were to receive food once a day.

All the tenants, "tam liberi quam servi," were to give the usual attendance at three autumnal Precariæ, receiving their food twice a day.

The following were the customs of this manor with regard to the appointment and remuneration of the several manorial officers:

The Præpositus or "Foreman" might be chosen by the lord of the manor from the customary tenants. If he held an entire virgate his rent of 5 s. was to be reduced by 3 s. 4 d. or two-thirds, and he was also to be released from two-thirds of the services due for the said virgate, both in ploughing and other work, except from ploughing the "Grasaera";

He was to have an acre of corn (not manured) by the delivery and at the discretion of the serjeant; and at Christmas, Easter, and Pentecost, and throughout the autumn, he was to have his food;

If the lord of the manor wished to have a Carucarius or ploughman from amongst the customary tenants, whether from the Virgarii or the Cottarii, a reduction of 2 s. only was to be made from the rent of the said ploughman;

Each carucarius was, however, to have the use of the team held by him every other Saturday; but if hindered by the rain or by its being a feast day he was not to take the following Saturday, but to wait his turn, the day so lost being accounted to him as a day's work in ploughing;

The Carucarii were also to have the first acre sown by them with barley (bericorn), and their breakfast (jantaculum) on the day they began sowing, and their food on Christmas and Easter Day;

The Woodward was to be chosen from the Virgarii;

He was to have charge of the lord's wood and of his swine, and had a reduction of 3 s. 4 d. from his rent. For his care of the swine he was to have four bushels of barley and his food on three occasions, like the Præpositus, and was also to have, at the Feast of St. Martin, a pig's fry (intestina unius porci præter adipem illius);

The Messor (Reaper), if chosen from the customary tenants, was to have a reduction of rent of 2 s. and his food on the same occasions as the

Præpositus; for watching the lord's grain at night in the autumn he was to receive one sheaf daily so long as the reaping continued, of the girth before specified;

The "Custos Multonum," or keeper of the wethers, if chosen from the customary tenants, was to have a reduction of rent of 2 s., and "the profit of the fold" for twelve days at Christmas. He was also to have forty sheep pasturing with those of the lord, a fold for his own sheep, a fleece called "Belwetheresfles," his food at Christmas and Easter, and an acre of "terra fricta" (land broken up for cultivation) next to his pasture, to be sown by him if he liked;

It was not the custom to choose a "keeper of the ewes" from the customary tenants, although the lord might choose his Præpositus and other officers either from the Virgarii or Cottarii, or from the tenants at will of assart lands, for they were all villani and of servile condition, nor could they give their sons or daughters in marriage beyond the liberty of the manor, or sell their cattle without the lord's licence.

NOTE.—It was the custom for the Virgarii to thrash out provender for the lord of the manor whenever he should pass that way, and also for those who hoed corn for three days to have their food twice a day; that is to say, at noon, barley-bread, soup or broth, and whey ("serum," or in French, "mege" or "maige"), and in the evening bread and whey.

Twenty-three tenants in Hertle (co. Berks) and Covenholte (co. Hants) rendered no services because they paid an increased rent; they were, however, to give pannage for their swine, and could not give their daughters in marriage nor sell their cattle without the lord's licence.

The rent of one tenant in Covenholte is said to be divided by the other tenants amongst themselves "ut eos defenderet contra nocentes patriotas in comitatu suo"—in consideration of his defending them against evil-doing natives in their county.

This appears to mean that, being far away from the jurisdiction of the lord of the manor to which they belonged, they were compelled to rely on their own resources for protection against evil-disposed neighbours. The form which this protection assumed is, however, a question which affords scope for rather curious speculation.

BROMEHAM, CO. WILTS. Pp. 72-82.

The tenants in the Manor of Bromeham are classified under the several heads of Liberi Tenentes, Majores Erdlinges or Virgarii, Minores Erdlinges, Half-Erdlinges or Majores Cottarii, Minores Cottarii, and Cotteriae, but the extent of their respective holdings is not specified.

The Liberi Tenentes were 12 in number, six of whom were quit by their rent from all common services, but owed a heriot and relief; and "their tenants," if they possessed a plough-team or any part thereof, were to plough a "grasacra" at the winter ploughing.

The remaining six were to plough one "grasacra" each, to carry the lord's hay, and also to carry each a specified quantity of grain; they also owed a heriot and relief, and their tenants, if they had animals for ploughing, were to plough the "grasacra" in proportion to the strength of their teams.

Of the Majores Erdlinges or Virgarii there were five, each of whom paid in addition to his rent 4d. per annum as "horsgabulum," or horse-gafol.

Each of these was also to plough, harrow, and sow with his own corn one acre called "Grasacra";

To plough two "werkacras" in winter;

To provide a man to do four "deywynes" or day-works after Michaelmas Day, working from morning till noon;

To wash and shear sheep with the other custumarii, each by one man;

To cart manure wherever required, those who possessed carts with their carts, and those who had none providing a labourer daily;

To provide a man to mow for three days from morning till noon in the meadows called Formed and Thochmed, and, together with the other Custumarii, to lift and carry the hay of those meadows;

To reap and bind one "Nedacra" in autumn;

To provide two men each day at the three autumnal Precariæ, called "Nedbedrypes," who were to reap from noon till evening;

To carry 12 cartloads of grain (4 "de monte" and 8 "sub monte") and to give pannage for their swine.

For the foregoing services they were to receive no reduction of rent; if, however, they performed certain specified day-works between Midsummer and Michaelmas, working each day from morning till noon, a fourth of their rent was to be remitted.

The Minores Erdlinges were eight in number :

They paid horse-gafol and rendered similar services to the Erdlinges, except that they did not plough, harrow, and sow the "grasacra"; and that they ploughed only one "werkacra," furnished one man instead of two at the autumnal Precariæ, and carried only nine cartloads of grain.

For these works they were to have no reduction of rent, those for which a reduction was made being specified amongst the services of the Half-Erdlinges.

NOTE.—The horse-gafol was never remitted except for the performance of averagia or carrying-services.

Half-Erdlinges or Majores Cottarii. Of these there were eleven, two of whom paid horse-gafol in addition to their rent.

Each of these was to do six day-works after Michaelmas Day, working from morning till noon, "and so much was expected of them because they did not plough the "werkacra" like the others;

If any of them had an ox or horse fit for ploughing he was to help to plough the "grasacra," and each of them was to harrow one acre.

They were to wash and shear sheep with the other Custumarii, to furnish each one man for three days to mow and gather hay, and to carry it, like the Majores Erdlinges;

Each was to reap and bind one "Nedacra" and to furnish one man for three days at the Nedbedripes in the autumn, who was to reap from noon till evening ;

And each was to carry 6 loads of grain in the autumn, 2 “de monte” and 4 “sub monte.”

If the Minores Erdlinges and the Half-Erdlinges, in addition to the foregoing services, did day-work from Midsummer to Michaelmas—that is to say, by one man each every day except Saturday, working from morning to noon,—they were to be released from one-fourth of their rent.

Each of the Half-Erdlinges or Cottarii, moreover, was to have two sheaves of the grain reaped by them in the autumn, each sheaf bound by a cord an ell and a quarter in length.

If, however, the Cottarii did full work, that is to say, three days a week from Michaelmas to Midsummer, three-fourths of their rent was to be remitted; and if from Midsummer to Michaelmas they worked the whole week except Saturday and holidays, the other fourth was remitted, so that if they did full work throughout the year they paid no rent.

Minores Cottarii. These were 12 in number, each of whom was to do three “deywynes” by one man each after Michaelmas Day, and the other works in proportion.

Coteriæ. Six tenants come under this designation, three of whom were to be present for one day at the haymaking and at the stacking of the hay; the others paid rent only.

Most of the foregoing tenants paid pannage for their swine at a fixed rate, and also gave “cheriset,” that is to say, each three hens and a cock.

The Præpositus, if chosen from the Customarii, was to have a reduction of rent up to 4 s., and also a mare and colt on the lord’s pasture in summer, and his food (“mensam suam”) from August 1 to Michaelmas.

The Messor, if one of the Custumarii, was also to have a reduction of 12 d. from his rent and a mare and colt at pasture like the Præpositus; and also for watching the lord's grain in the autumn, 60 sheaves of corn of medium quality.

The Bercator was in like manner to have 60 sheaves for watching the grain and a reduction of 3 s.

The Carucarii, the Forestarius, and the Faber, if customary tenants, were each to have a reduction of 3 s. from their rent.

All the "servientes domini" were to have bacon on a flesh-day, that is to say, one dish each.

All the tenants who owed horse-gafol were on the arrival of the Abbot to carry whenever called upon to Brithwolton, Salisbury, or elsewhere within 20 leagues, according to the lord's will, and for that year they were to be quit of the gafol.

ANESTY, CO. HANTS. Pp. 83-84.

A rental only of this manor is given without mention of any customs or services.

The manor, described as "tenementum illud," is stated to have been conveyed to the Abbot of Battle by William de Anesty in the 12th year of Edward I. when the tenants were those specified.

CRAUMAREYS, CO. OXON. Pp. 85-90.

In the rental of Craumareys there appear 14 tenants holding half a virgate each at a rent of 2 s. 6 d. per annum and 3 d. as cherset.

Each of these was to send two men per diem to reap at the three autumnal Precariæ and one man to the fourth, "ad cibum domini."

In addition each was to reap and bind half an acre every day except Saturday during the autumnal reaping, receiving one sheaf of the grain so reaped; and to hoe the lord's corn every afternoon, so long as there was any hoeing to be done;

They were also to mow the lord's meadow, and the first day to have a breakfast of bread and cheese; and to spread, lift, and cock the hay, for which they received $10\frac{1}{2}$ d. and each one a wheaten loaf price $\frac{1}{2}$ d.

Each of them was to thrash after Michaelmas Day six bushels of corn, and to receive a bundle of straw, as much as he could lift and carry away without help.

They were also to gather straw for half a day and each to receive one "thelyn."

There were also 11 minor tenants, holding from $2\frac{1}{2}$ acres to half a virgate each, who rendered services differing but little from the foregoing.

All the tenants were to give pannage for their swine, to pay Peter's Pence, and were prohibited from giving their daughters in marriage beyond the liberty of the manor and from selling their cattle without the lord's licence.

They were all to have their food at the autumnal Precariæ twice a day:—that is to say at noon—wheaten bread, ale, and cheese, and in the evening—bread, ale, soup or broth, flesh or herrings according to the day, and cheese—besides a drink in the afternoon.

They were also to have an acre of corn (unam acram de frumento) to be chosen by themselves as it lay in the field, "ita tamen quod non sit finata nec faldata nec forsettere nec foretata super dominicum mensurata." *

They were also to have common of pasture on the stubbles as soon as the lord's grain had been gathered, and also in a certain pasture called Heycrofte.

After the Feast of St. Martin, those who had plough-teams were to plough an acre called "Grasherse" (Grasacra or Graserthe), and those who had no teams were not to have common of pasture till then.

* This appears to mean that the acre so chosen was not to be manured nor enclosed as a sheepfold, nor measured on the demesne for some other special purpose. The words "forsettere nec foretata" have baffled all attempts to get at their meaning; it is possible, however, that they have been written in mistake for "warectare nec waretata," which would render the passage perfectly intelligible.

After the said feast they might gather straw on the demesne for their own use, for which they gave chersset.

Each virgate moreover could have 16 sheep in the fold during folding time.

All the tenants were to have two days' notice before they were called upon to hoe, mow, or reap, in order that they might be prepared with their implements, and those who had no scythes were to give a penny to the mowers.

All who had carts were also to carry the lord's grain if necessary, receiving their food, and on that day doing no other work.

HOTON, CO. ESSEX. Pp. 91-100.

The rental of Hoton presents a complete list of the tenants of the manor, in which the rent due from each is specified, but without any attempt at order or classification; the three first-named appear, however, to have been Liberi Tenentes. Amongst these was the Master of St. Bartholomew's, London, who held certain lands by charter from the abbot, for which he owed suit at the Court of Hoton, and, on the death or resignation of any Master, his successor was to pay 10 s. as heriot and relief and to swear fealty to the Lord of the Manor.*

In the Custumal the services to be rendered by each tenant are specified categorically and vary considerably in extent. These are again followed by the names of those tenants who paid hen-rents and plough-rents in addition to the sums previously stated.

N.B.—In transcribing this from the draft or smaller copy of the Custumal the scribe has made one or two blunders which the existence of the draft enables us to correct.

* The words "cuilibet Magistro" in the original MS. should evidently be "quolibet Magistro."

Thus, in the services of Johannes de Elde (p. 94) the words "sextam precem" have been written by mistake for "siccam precem," i.e., a precaria without drink ; and in the entry relating to the services of Heres (or Henricus) Dodi on p. 95 a foot-note relating to the services of a previous tenant has been embodied in the text, thus rendering the passage unintelligible. Omitting this note the passage would read as follows: "et in autumpno,—præter prædictas operationes iiij^{or} operationes," &c.

The following services, which were to be rendered by Martinus de Branford as the tenant of $15\frac{1}{2}$ acres, may be quoted as an example of those due from the larger customary tenants :

To perform 1 averagium a year to London, Tilbury, or Chelmsford, for which he received a loaf and one feed of oats for his horse;

To reap and bind one acre in the autumn ;

To furnish 3 men at the Great Precaria in autumn, at another 2, and at a third 1, and to bind what they reaped ;

To find a man to hoe for one day, receiving his food ;

To harrow for one day till noon, receiving a piece of bread ;

To attend the "Preces Carucarum" twice a year, viz. in Winter and in Lent, with as many animals for ploughing as he possessed.

He was also to find one man at the Great Precaria for certain land called "Terra Lynnot."

Several of the minor tenants, holding from 5 to $15\frac{1}{2}$ acres each, were to serve as follows :

To perform one day's work every week throughout the year, and in autumn four more works "de surplusagio" ;

To find one man at each Precaria and to bind what he reaped ;

In addition to reap and bind 1 acre ;

To hoe for one day by one man, who was to receive food twice a day ;

To mow two parts of one acre (two third parts ?) as one day's work, for which he was to receive one farthing ;

To harrow $\frac{1}{2}$ an acre in Lent, receiving one piece of bread ;

To gather nuts for one day "ad medietatem" (i.e., receiving a moiety or half the quantity gathered) ;

If he had any plough cattle (si jungit), to come to the "preces carucarum" with the rest and to lift the lord's hay.

A memorandum, in a somewhat later hand, annexed to the Custumal gives the amount required as a day's work (in thrashing) "apud Hotona," as follows:—

Of corn, 10 works	=	2 qrs. 7 bushels, 1 peck.
" 20 "	=	7 qrs. 6½ bushels.
" 100 "	=	39 qrs. ½ bushel.
Of beans, peas, and vetches,
1 work	=	4½ bushels.
Of oats, drag or buckwheat (dragetum), and barley,
1 work	=	1 qr. 1 peck.

From the Extent of the Manor of Hoton, dated 5 Edward II, which appears in the later portion of the Liber Regius, the demesne of the manor appears, in addition to the manor-house and its appurtenances, to have included the following:

73 acres of wood.

756½ acres of arable land and 3 acres of pasture.

43 acres of meadow.

The valuation is given as follows:

	£	s.	d.
The demesne with its appurtenances .	27	11	3½
Rents of Assize (both of free and customary tenants)	7	12	0½
Plough rents (8 vomeres)	4	8
Customs and services	7	15	7
Rents of tenants at will	7	8
"Tolcester" or ale-toll	7	2
Fines, amerciaments, and other profits .	1	0	0
Total .	£44	18	5

The rents and services of each tenant are specified in the Extent in the same manner as in the Custumal, but with the addition of the pecuniary value of the services and of the food supplied in each case. They appear to vary little from those described in the earlier record, although in one or two cases additional details are given.

Thus in the services of William, the son of Martin de Hoton (the successor of the Martin de Branford whose services are above quoted), the following variations occur:

At the first Precaria in autumn he was to find (as before) one man, who was to receive two meals without drink (a "sicca" precaria); at the second two men, who were to have two meals with drink, and at the third four men (one man "pro terra Lynnot"), who were to have two meals with drink;

And in the evening of that (the third) day they were to be as they say "solemniter depasti."

At the second Precaria and at the third, "which is called the Great Precaria," each labourer was to bring a comrade with him to supper ("utroque die ad vesperam occurret in cena cuilibet operario unus alius, et sic pro uno operante erunt duo ad cenam").

The work of each reaper is further stated to be worth $1\frac{1}{2}$ d. per day, "quia dicunt quod tantum dabunt ad minus cuilibet operario, si quis unum vel plures conducere debeat ad faciendum opus, una cum cibo prædicto; et pro eo maxime, quod debent ligare et coppare post prædictas precarias, temporibus opportunis, totum quod remanserit deligatum."

So that it would appear to have been the practice for the tenants, in order to get the harvest work finished within the period allotted to it, to hire extra labourers, who, however, were entitled to participate in the general supper at the lord's expense.

It is also stated that "ipse idem" (the tenant) "debet equitare ultra metentes ad secundam et ad tertiam precariam in autumpno, et habere cibum bis in die cum serviente, et plus valet cibum quam perfectus opus."

He was also to gather nuts with one man for one day and to have a moiety of those gathered, "et non potest illud opus extendi propter ejus parvitatem."

The following particulars regarding the general services of the tenants are given at the end of the extent :

Each of the nativi who had a plough-team, or any part thereof, was to plough at the two Precariæ Carucarum, "et parum vel nihil prodest arura de parvis tenentibus quia pauca habent animalia."

Every free tenant who owed a heriot was to give his best animal, but if he had no animal he gave no heriot, and the same with the nativi, from all of whom who held buildings, "qui tenementa tenent edificata," a heriot was due.

The successor of any nativus was also to pay a fine on entry ; but the widow of a nativus was to remain in possession of his tenement during her life-time. She must not, however, re-marry without the lord's licence.

Each nativus "quando braciaverit" was to give two "lagenas" of the best ale which was called Tolcestre.

Nor could any of the said nativi, "neque major neque minor," give his daughter in marriage, nor make his son a priest without the lord's licence, nor cut down timber without licence, and then only for building.

WYE, CO. KENT. Pp. 101-136.

The lands held by the tenants of the Manor of Wye appear to have consisted of $60\frac{1}{2}$ juga or yoke-lands, each of which contained four virgates. One half of these, that is 30 juga and 1 virgate, are described as "juga libera" and the other half as "juga servilia," or "juga averantia."

The "juga servilia" were subdivided into three "Wendi," Dunewendus, Chiltunwendus, and Brunelfordwendus, each of which contained 10 juga, Dunewendus including in addition the Virgate called "Throstle," or Throstel's, which was the fourth part of a jugum and rendered proportionate services.

The following are the services stated to be due from the customary yoke-lands:

Each "Wendus" was to perform 10 averagia every three weeks, i.e., one from each jugum, and always on a Saturday, on one Saturday corn being carried, and on the other barley; the Virgate of Throstel, however, always carried corn.

In addition to the foregoing, 33 averagia were due from certain of the libera juga, between Hockday and the 1st of August. Each averagium was from Wye to Battle, and was to consist of half a seam either of wheat or of barley.

Twenty-eight of the "juga averantia" (the two juga in Kyngesswode being excepted) were to plough, sow, and harrow 42 acres for wheat, i.e., each jugum $1\frac{1}{2}$ acre, and the Virgate of Throstel a fourth of this quantity, that is $1\frac{1}{2}$ roods.*

Two or three of the "libera juga" also contributed to this service, the total number of acres for wheat being 49 acres, $3\frac{1}{2}$ roods (xl ix acræ et dimidia, j virgata et dimidia).

All the juga which ploughed for wheat as above were to reap, gather, bind and stook (coppare) the same number of acres, and, with two exceptions, were to plough, sow, and harrow for barley in like manner.

The 28 "juga servilia" were also to mow, spread, turn, cock, and carry to the Court of Wy, and there to stack 28 acres of meadow, one for each jugum, certain of the libera juga also contributing to this service, the total number of acres to be mown, &c. being 33 acres, 1 rood.

* The use here of the word "virgata" for rood is very unusual and rather confusing, the passage standing thus: "Et Virgata Throstle (debet arare) unam virgatum et dimidiam." There can, however, be no doubt as to the meaning.

With regard to rent and other dues the juga servilia were all equal.

The rent of each jugum was 7 s. 5 d. that is to say 40 d. of ancient rent and 49 d. of new rent. All those paying this rent were said to be "de numero sex librarum," that being about the amount paid by them altogether in excess of the ancient rent; as a matter of fact however they paid $12\frac{3}{4}$ d. more (et excrescunt $12\frac{3}{4}$ d.)

The juga servilia also rendered rents of hens and eggs, i.e. 3 hens at Christmas and 20 eggs at Easter,* similar payments being made by many of the libera juga as shown by the rental.

They paid each $7\frac{1}{2}$ d. per annum as husbote, and 9 d. per annum "pro brasio," and at the feast of St. Thomas the Apostle a certain payment called "Foxalpeni," which is stated to have arisen in the year of the war between King John and his barons.

All the juga which owed ploughing service were to turn their ploughs to the lord's land on the vigils of St. Martin and St. Gregory respectively, without being summoned, under penalty of a fine of 21 d.

If any tenant did not come to do carrying service on the Saturday, nor to Battle on the Monday, he was fined 21 d., and the Bedellus was to supply his place, for which he was to have 6 d.

Most of the juga servilia had wood in Kingswood without rent, i.e. 10 acres each. This is in one instance alleged as a proof of the yoke-land in question being servile.

* The serjeant was to call once for the hens and eggs; but if they were not ready the tenants were to carry them to the manor within 12 days; if this was not done, they were fined 21 d. in lieu thereof.

LIMENESFELD AND BRODEHAM, CO. SURREY. Pp. 137-163.

From the Extent of Limenesfeld the demesne appears to have consisted, in addition to the manor-house with its gardens and other appurtenances, including two granges with the adjacent closes, a dovecot, and two watermills, of 600 acres of "Boscus Communis," i.e., of wood which was common to all the tenants of the manor, "tam liberis quam nativis per totum annum ad omnia averia sua";

163 acres of "Boscus Separalis," which however were common to all the tenants "tempore glani," i.e., at the time of pannage, but for their swine only; and of 1367 acres of arable and pasture land and 38 acres of meadow, in various fields and crofts. Some of these are described as "acræ separales," whilst others appear to have formed distinct enclosures of demesne land, e.g.

"Et sunt ibidem in campis qui vocantur Horscroftes lxxviii acræ separales.

* * * * *
et in diversis campis et croftis quæ vocantur Hornesland infra unum clausum et procinctum cxi. acræ terræ et pasturæ."

The arable and pasture land is valued at ij d. to vj d. per acre, and the meadow at xvj d. per acre.

There were in Limenesfeld between 50 and 60 "Liberi Tenentes," holding amongst them about 470 acres, chiefly in very small quantities, although three of them held 50, 60, and 120 acres respectively.

The same tenant appears in many cases as the possessor of several small holdings, and in two or three cases the tenures are stated to be "in servitio."

Each of the Liberi Tenentes, both large and small, who had a plough-team or any part thereof was to attend one Precaria Carucarum in Winter and another in Lent, at each of which the possessor of a whole team was to plough and harrow one acre.

Many of them are however stated to be “adeo parvæ tenuræ et impotentes, quod neque carucas integras nec earum aliquam partem possunt habere”—the whole ploughing being therefore estimated at not more than x acres per annum.

There were also 10 Liberi Tenentes in Prynkehamme, holding altogether 378 acres.

These appear to have owed suit of court, reliefs and heriots only; one of them however is described as holding a messuage and 40 acres “in servitio.”

The Nativi of Limenesfeld were 20 in number and held altogether about 193 acres.

The following, rendered by a tenant of a messuage and seven acres, appear to have been the standard services :

To find a man and horse to harrow for one day at the Lenten sowing called “Tyndesawe”;

To find a man, during the carting of the manure from the lord’s fimarium, which generally lasted for 10 days, to fill the carts, working every other day till the task was completed;

To find a man for one day to spread the lord’s hay; for one day to lift the hay; and for two days to hoe corn; and a man to assist in stacking 5 loads of hay;

To find a man at each of the three autumnal Precariæ, and to thrash two bushels of oats whenever the Abbot should come from Battle.

All the nativi who had plough-teams or any portion thereof were also to plough and harrow at the two Precariæ Carucarum like the Liberi Tenentes, and in addition to fetch seed from the lord’s granary and therewith to sow the land they had tilled. The whole of the ploughing and harrowing at the two Precariæ however amounted only to four acres.

There were also 4 nativi in Prinkehamme holding together 128 acres ; three of these compounded for their services by a pecuniary payment ; the fourth in addition to certain "averagia," for which he seems to have compounded, was to find a horse and two oxen, "qui medietatem unius curri faciunt," to cart the manure from the fimarium so long as that operation lasted, generally for 20 days.

All the nativi both of Lymenesfeld and Prinkehamme appear to have been subject to the usual restrictions as to the marriage of their daughters &c.; but on the death of a nativus his widow was to retain only the half of the tenement held by him.

All the tenants both liberi and nativi whenever they brewed "ad vendendum" were to send to the manor two gallons of the best ale, which was called "Tolcester."

There were also a number of "Tenants at Will" of small portions of land, most of whom paid rent only "pro omnibus."

The Extent of the Manor of Brodehamme, taken at the same time and by the same jurors as that of Lymenesfeld, gives the acreage of the demesne as follows :

31 acres 1 rood of wood.

217 acres, 3 roods of arable and pasture, with heath.

20 acres and 3 roods of meadow.

The arable and pasture land is valued at vij d. per acre and the meadow at ij s. vj d.

There were in this manor 8 Liberi Tenentes, holding together about 77 acres, 9 Nativi holding together 15 acres, and 5 Tenants at Will of small holdings.

These, with one or two exceptions, owed suit of Court, reliefs, and heriots, but no mention is made of any services to be rendered.

Radulpho Terry remittitur ob redditus.

Gocelino Rufo, ob.

Rogero Norreys, ob. q^a.

Prædicta remissio redditus facta fuit prædictis, de termino Sancti Thomæ Apostoli, pro terra eorundem quæ inclusa fuit cum prato domini.

Quælibet dimidia hida debet ad Natale j gallum et ij gallinas, Summa lxxvj; Et ad Pascha xx ova.

Summa ovorum cccxxx.

Et sciendum quod quælibet dimidia hida debet domino, qualibet die qua licet operari, opus unius hominis quicquid ei injungitur.

Si trituratione bladi injungitur, ij homines debent triturationem in die dimidiam summam et dimidium bussellum de frumento, vel ij homines dimidiam summam de ordeo, vel unusquisque vj bussellos de avena;

De fabis et vescis sicut de frumento;

Et debent triturare in quocumque orreo eis præcipitur, infra manerium tantum, ut dicunt;

Et debent ventilare quicquid triturant et portare ad granarium, et, si longe fuerit granarium, debent averiis suis cariare;

Et trituratio tanti bladi ut prædictum est, et ventilatio et cariatio, pro opere unius diei allocatur.

Si opus fossorium injungitur, debent in die duo homines de novo fossato facere j perticatam, v pedum latitudine, vel unusquisque de veteri fossato j perticatam reparare;

Si aliud opus injungitur, debent operari quousque pares eorum perfecerint opus suum in orreo;

Si injungitur ire ad carucam vel herciam, debent hoc facere quousque tempus sit carucam disjungere;

Quando torrare debent, scilicet glebas frangere ad ordeum, vel oves lavare vel tondere, bladum sarculare, falcare, vel fenum colligere, debent operari tota die excepta hora comedendi;

Ad colligendum fenum debet quælibet dimidia hida invenire j hominem per unum diem, præter opus unius hominis cotidianum;

Et similiter j hominem per unum diem ad tassandum fenum et ad falcationem prati; debent habere cibum uno die, et debent cariare totum fenum, scilicet quælibet dimidia hida cum duobus bobus;

Item, si opus fuerit, quælibet dimidia hida debet invenire ij homines ad metendum in campo domini et habere decimam garbam, vel, si dominus maluerit, quælibet dimidia hida debet metere in die j acram de frumento vel de avena, vel dimidiam acram ordeï vel vesciarum, cum quot hominibus voluerit et habere decimam garbam;

Debent cariare totum bladum, scilicet quælibet dimidia hida cum duobus bobus;

Item quælibet dimidia hida debet invenire ad fimum extrahendum duos homines et ij boves, quousque totum extrahatur;

Item quælibet dimidia hida debet arare j acram ad frumentum semel, et seminare dimidiam illam acram de proprio semine;

Item debet arare j acram ad ordeum bis, et ij acras ad avenam semel, et debent cariare semen de granario in campum ad seminandum terram quam arant, et herciare debent quicquid arant;

Item quælibet dimidia hida debet cariare per annum quatuor careatas ad focum domini, set non longius quam a Grimbrok ut dicunt, et quando dominus ædificat, j careatam meremii, quilibet dabit juvamen careariis;

Item, si necesse fuerit quærere bladum apud Seford, vel alibi prope, debet quælibet dimidia hida ire cum averio uno bis in die, et allocabitur pro opere unius diei; si longius, semel tantum debet ire;

Item quælibet dimidia hida debet invenire et facere quatuor cheveruns et omnia pertinentia in parietibus, et coopertura ad hlosam domini, excepto magno meremio; ita quod oves domini conserventur indempnes, et hoc allocabitur pro opere duorum dierum omni anno.

Item quælibet dimidia hida debet averare ad Bellum omni die, Lunæ, quod si jumentum suum moritur vel pullum pariat, quietus erit de uno averagio, set operabitur;

Item debent averare ubicumque et quandocumque eis præcipitur, set, nisi potuerint nocte redire ad propria, debent esse ad sumptus domini;

Et sciendum quod quando averant, arant, vel cariant, quieti sunt de opere cotidiano;

In autumpno vero, si cariauerint tres cariatas bladi, et impediti fuerint per pluviam amplius cariare, quieti erunt ipsa die de opere suo; Si minus tribus careatis cariauerint, non erunt quieti set triturbunt vel aliud opus sibi injunctum facient;

Et sciendum quod quælibet dimidia hida continet ij wistas, unde quælibet wista debet medietatem omnium prædictorum;

Duæ tamen sunt magnæ wistæ, quas tenent Radulphus Bedellus et Radulphus de Fraxino, a festo Sancti Johannis usque ad festum Sancti Michaelis; debent facere quantum facit dimidia hida, scilicet sarculando, falcando, fenum vel bladum ducendo, et in aliis operibus, excepto quod non metit nec triturat;

Item utraque istarum debet ire pro j careata meremii ad faciendum aratra, ubi præcipitur;

Et si opus fuerit, debent invenire hospitium hospitibus Abbatis vel monachorum, et equis;

Item istæ duæ wistæ debent ducere et reducere porcos domini ad nemus, tempore pannagii, ad Bellum vel Limenesfeld;

Item utraque istarum debet habere xix oves et j multonem in pastura domini quæ vocatur Westdun';

Et sciendum quod quilibet prædictorum, de qualibet sue quam habuerit, debet dare domino j purcellum ablactatum, scilicet quando secundo porcellaverit, et non amplius.

SERVITIA ET CONSUETUDINES DE EODEM LOCO.

Memorandum quod tenentes dicunt quod quilibet qui tenet unam acram de Gavelmed habebit allocationem redditus sui de termino Sancti Michaelis, videlicet de ij d. ; Et ad plus plus et ad minus minus ; Et ideo solvunt minus ad illum terminum quam ad alium ut patet superius ;

Item dicunt quod summa acrarum de Gavelmed' continet xxxvj acras.

Hii vero qui tenent debent facere averagium bis in anno si Abbas ibidem advenerit, scilicet invenire xij equos cum custodibus ad portandum panem de Wy de ij bussellis bladi et non potum ;

Set de Romenal et a portu de Wyncheles' portabunt apud Dyingemaresco omnia victualia, scilicet panem et cervisiam et cetera ;

Et cum domi (sic) venerint quilibet habebit j panem servientis tantum pro equo suo.

Cottarii vero portabunt quilibet eorum iiij^{or} galones cervisiæ vel vini a portu de Wyncheles' seu Romenal, nec habebunt companagium vel panem, set habebunt v bidentes supra petram versus mare Achrokepole usque Boctes Wall' et cetera animalia sua supra petram sine dampno domini ;

Et si dominus non venerit, quilibet prædictorum dabit per annum j d. pro prædicto servitio ;

Et sciendum quod omnis qui tenet j acram de Gavelmed habebit supra petram versus mare et a Rouwepol' usque ad Bocteswall' xvj oves, Et qui minus habet minus habeat de ovibus inter dictas metas ;

Et sciendum quod a tempore Annunciationis usque post tempus falcationis sunt prata de Gavelmed in defenso, et per totum illud tempus possunt ibidem inparcare et secundum delictum emendas capere.

Consulendum est de prædictis averagiis tam de Custumariis quam de aliis, pro eo quod clamant pasturam super petram adeo bene quando non faciunt servicium suum sicuti et quando faciunt.

Terra le Wynd' debet per annum iiij capones ;
 Willielmus Carectarius annuatim ij capones ;
 Johannes le Wodeward' annuatim j caponem ;
 Henricus Adam Novus per annum ij capones ;

Memorandum quod nullus custumarius habebit aliquam relaxationem redditus de terris quas tenet de assarto vel in communi de Greneholte pro aliquo officio vel opere domino faciendo ;

Sciendum etiam quod omnes tenentes, tam liberi quam alii, venire debent ad iij benerthes ad arrandum, et quicumque habeat animalia juncta carrucæ cum summonitus fuerit;

Item omnes virgarii, et qui tenent de assarto, debent in Quadregesima herciare ad summonitionem Servientis, et qui non habet equum perquirere debet ad herciandum domino, præter cottarii, et habebunt cibum semel per diem, scilicet panem, cervisiam, potagium, et unum ferculum de carne vel pisce prout tempus dederit, et secundum quod Serviens providere voluerit;

Item omnes tenentes, tam liberi quam servi, venire debent ad iij precarias in autumpno ad metendum, scilicet ad primam per j hominem, ad secundam per ij homines, et ad tertiam cum tota familia sua, et habebunt cibum bis per diem, scilicet ad nonam panem, cervisiam, et caseum, et in vespers panem, cervisiam, potagium, et j ferculum de carne vel pisce secundum tempus.

Memorandum quod dominus potest pro voluntate sua quem voluerit de custumariis eligere in Præpositum, et qui tenet integram virgatam terræ relaxabitur ei de redditu suo quinque solidorum xld.

Debet etiam relaxari de duabus partibus omnium consuetudinum quæ debentur domino per annum pro prædicta virgata terræ, tam in arrura quam aliis, præter Garsacram operandam;

Habebit etiam Præpositus de consuetudine j acram de frumento non fimatam per liberationem et discretionem Servientis:

Et ad Natale Domini, Pascha, Pentecosten cibum suum habebit et per autumpnum.

Si dominus habere voluerit Carrucarium de custumariis suis, vel de virgariis seu cottariis, habebunt tantum relaxationem de ij solidis sui redditus;

Et insuper quilibet de carrucariis habebit arruram suæ carrucæ quam tenet semper secundo Sabbato, et si impedimentum habuerit vel per pluviam vel diem festivum nullam restitutionem habebit Sabbato sequenti, set expectabit circulum, scilicet Sabbatum sequens, quia computabitur sibi illud impedimentum pro diurno arruræ;

Debent etiam omnes carrucarii habere primam acram quam seminant de bericorn, et eo die jantaculum quo incipiunt seminare, et cibum suum die Natali et Pascha.

Wodewardus vero debet esse unus electus de virgariis,

Iste debet custodire boscum et porcos domini et debet relaxari de xld. sui redditus, et pro custodia porcorum habebit iiij bussellos de bericorn' et cibum ter, ut Præpositus, et ad festum Sancti Martini intestina unius porci præter adipem illius qui necessarius ad lardarium.

Messor vero, si sit electus de custumariis, habebit relaxationem ij s. de redditu suo et cibum ter, ut Præpositus, et in autumpno quid vigilabit noctu circa blada domini in autumpno, et pro hoc habebit cotidie dum metent j garbam per corrigiam ut supra patet de eodem blado quo metent.

Custos etiam multonum, si eligitur de custumariis, custodiet multones et habebit relaxationem de ij solidis sui redditus, et habebit proficuum de falda per xij dies in Natali et xl oves cum ovibus domini euntes et ipsemet faldam de propriis ovibus, et habebit unum vellus quod vocatur Belwertheresfles et cibum suum ad Natale et Pascha, et unam acram de terra fricta juxta pasturam suam ad seminandum si voluerit.

Ad oves matrices custodiendas non de consuetudine eligere de custumariis, licebit etiam domino eligere sibi Præpositum et alios ministros vel de virgariis vel de cottariis vel de hiis qui tenent de assarto pro voluntate sua, quia omnes sunt villani sui et servilis conditionis;

Nec possunt maritare filium vel filiam sine licentia domini extra libertatem, vel vendere bovem suum vel jumentum.

Memorandum quod virgarii debent de consuetudine triturrare præbendam domini cum ad partes illas declinaverit quandocunque.

Item sciendum quod sarclantes bladum per tres dies, habebunt cibum in die bis, scilicet ad nonam panem de bericorn, potagium, et serum, scilicet mege Gallico, et in vespers panem et serum.

[The following Memoranda relating to the Customs of the Manor of Wye are transcribed from a small volume entitled "Reditus diversimodi Ecclesiæ de Bello pertinentes," formerly in the Augmentation Office:—

DE WY.

Anno quo guerra fuit inter Regem Johannem et Barones Angliæ, ad festum Sancti Thomæ Apostoli, emergebat obolus qui dicitur foxalpeni de v jugis; scilicet de uno jugo et dimidio de Cugelescumbe, et de uno jugo et dimidio de Chelchesburne, et de dimidio jugo de terra as [les?] Duneres, et de uno jugo et dimidio de Hemminge, et de una virgata de Throstesierd;

De tribus jugis Ricardi de Pirie et de duobus jugis Willielmi de Beudrege emergebat obolus quem Willielmus super pacat;

De uno jugo Pukel et sociorum ejus, et de uno jugo Ricardi de Tortege et sociorum ejus, et de uno jugo H. Walewei et sociorum ejus, et de uno jugo Walteri filii H. et sociorum ejus, obolus;

De uno jugo Willielmi de Chiltune, et de uno jugo filii Geroldi, et de uno jugo et dimidio de Westchiltune, et de tribus virgatis Burghornd' et sociorum ejus, et de una virgata Roberti pistoris, et de una virgata Walteri pistoris, et de una virgata Orgari pistoris, obolus;

De uno jugo Simonis de Brunesford, et de dimidio jugo filii Wlstani et sociorum ejus, et de uno jugo filii Normanni de Brunesford et sociorum ejus, et de duobus jugis de Dudestune obolus;

De uno jugo Willielmi de la Forde et sociorum ejus, et de uno jugo Adæ Legistre et sociorum ejus, et de uno jugo Stephani de

Rengesdun' et Godwini de la Cumbe, et de uno jugo Beltinge, et terra Bissop et Alanus Putac, obolus ;

De uno jugo Henwde, et de uno jugo Denilonde, et filii Cnotte, et de uno jugo Martini de Wilmintune et Warini, et de uno jugo heredum Roberti de Lege, obolus.

Quondam ad summonitionem nostram fuerunt xxij hundredi et dimidium, Nunc autem pertinent tantum septem, scilicet : Blakeburne, Tendurdenne, Rulundenne, dimidius hundredus de Bernefeld, Silbriddenne, Cranebroke, Badekeleg', de quibus debemus habere ij denarios et Rex tertium ; Præterea summonemus Kalehelle, Felebrage, Chileham, Godmeresham, Cherteam, quæ omnia habent fossas suas, et ideo nichil habemus de illis.

Septem hundredi non habent fossas nisi apud Wy, et ideo habemus ij denarios ; Archiepiscopus tamen et Prior de novo trahunt homines suos ad fossas ; Abbas de Sancto Augustino non habet.

Hundredus de Langebreg' recipit summonitionem nostram et habemus inde ij denarios, et debet serviens noster interesse et accipere merciamenta, similiter de septem hundredis.

Baculus debet currere a festo Sancti Michaelis usque ad Nativitatem, et a Pascha usque ad festum Sancti Petri ad Vincula ; et sunt xiiij borgi, scilicet : Bendrege, Brunesford, Wilmintune, Gocele, Hebbinge, Welle, Sotindune, Dene, Beumundestune, Thokinkeam, Sacumbe, Tremworthe, Tune, Cukelescumbe.

In Cancia sunt lxxvj hundredi præter Middeltune, Cantuariam, Quinque Portuos, Roffam, Derteford, Niwendenne ; et isti hundredi sunt pertinentes ad leth, et sunt in Cancia tantum sex leth, primum, Sancti Augustini, Eldinge, Sipweie, ubi sunt xiiij hundredi, Srewinchepo, ubi sunt xvj hundredi, qui pertinent ad nostram summonitionem, præter Fevresham, Tenham, Boctune, Gilesford, Sutthune.

Redditum dimidii jugi quem tenet Willielmus de Esplumtune et socii sui, scilicet ad quemlibet terminum x denarios, dedit W. Abbas Radulpho Picot, cujus heres est Bertramus de Criel ; Set forinseca servitia reddunt Willielmus et socii sui ; scilicet, arant, seminant, herciant, metunt, ligant, et coppant ; et per summonitionem falcant unam acram; et intus ducunt, et ad custum et (ad) cibum proprium; et si non veniant ad summonitionem sunt in misericordia de xxj denariis; Reddunt etiam ad Natale ij gallinas, et ad Pascha x ova, et averant quinque averagia, et debent sequi Curiam domini, et auxilium facere domino sicut alii; et hac terra vocatur Sifled.

Notandum quod quodlibet jugum de xxvij jugis et dimidio et una virgata, una cum dimidio jugo de Denilonde, reddit ad Natale tres gallinas, et ad Pascha xx ova; set serviens veniet semel propter illas; quod si eas non habuerit, ipsi eas portabunt infra xij dies, quod si infra xij dies non aportaverint, pacabunt gallinas et erunt in misericordia domini de xxj denariis;

Præterea Johannes de la Tune reddit unam gallinam et v ova de terra quæ fuit Reginoldi Sporcarii; Item Angerus de la Pecce unam gallinam et v ova; Item jugum de Sandesdane iiij gallinas et xx ova; Item Radulphus Wallensis ij gallinas, quas ipse portabit sine summonitione; Item heredes Willielmi Crispini ij gallinas, quas ipsi portabunt sine summonitione; Item Daniel de l duas gallinas, quas portabit sine summonitione.

Hæc sunt undecim libera juga quæ reddunt redditum suum in uno die; scilicet, Sevietune unum jugum quod reddit in die Sancti Michaelis xiiij solidos; Item tria juga de Plumtune quæ tenet Ricardus Juvenis, heres Roberti de Marti, reddunt xxij solidos et ij d. in die Sancti Martini; Item iiij juga de Beltesburne reddunt in die Sancti Michaelis duos marcas; Item duo juga de Crundale reddunt unam marcæ in die Sancti Johannis; Vanne j jugum, reddens vij solidos et iiij d.; Item Thomas de Oliford reddit pro uno jugo unam marcæ in die Sancti Michaelis pro omni servitio.

Molendinum de Bolle quod tenet Simon de Brunesford jacet pro uno jugo, et reddit per annum xx solidos pro omni servitio, et xxvj denarios pro mutura, et de anguillis vj sticas pro piscatione in stagno;

Molendinum de Wy jacet pro uno jugo, et reddit per annum xxxij solidos pro omni servitio, et xxvj denarios pro mutura, et de anguillis decem sticas;

Molendinum de Holnthege jacet pro uno jugo, et reddit per annum xj solidos et iiij denarios, et xxvj denarios pro mutura; Cujus molendini Ricardus Brun habuit quartam partem, Quo Ricardo mortuo, successerunt sibi iiij filii, quilibet eorum optinens partem suam de quarta parte dicti molendini; Set Johannes de Bosco emit de duobus filiis Ricardi Brun scilicet de Waltero Brun et fratre suo, quicquid contingebat illos in dicto molendino, et hoc fuit octava pars, salva tamen relictæ Ricardi Brun patris dicti Walteri Brun et dote sua de dicta octava parte; Unde intelligendum quod, prædicta relictæ Ricardi vivente, non habemus nisi sextam decimam partem molendini, qua vero defuncta, succedet nobis libere octava pars.

Et sciendum quod ista tria molendina solebant molere totum brasium mittendum ad Bellum, et brasium Curia de Wy, sine theloneo, et quia non molunt brasium de Bello reddunt pro mutura vj solidos et vj d., scilicet quodlibet molendinum xxvj denarios; et defendunt se pro tribus jugis in donis faciendis domino; Alia vero juga dant pro brasio faciendo xx solidos in Crastino Purificationis.

Kingeswode set in wallis, scilicet — ;

Apud Kingessnode duo juga;

Et notandum quod omnia ista juga xxx^{ta} et j virgata reddunt ova et gallinas, scilicet quodlibet jugum iij gallinas et xx^{ti} ova, præter duo juga de Kingessnode quæ nec dant gallinas nec ova.

Ista juga paria sunt in redditu, in husbote, in brasio faciendo; et quodlibet istorum debet arare unam acram et dimidiam in hieme, et in Quadragesima tantum; et seminare, set de semine Abbatis, et herciare, et in autumpno metere unam acram et dimidiam; ligare, coppare, falchare unam acram, levare et cumulare, et kariare ubi poni debet.

Ricardus de Pirie tenet tria juga et unam virgatam inter libera juga, set per redditum quem reddunt juga servilia, et tamen non sunt de numero illorum; Arant, seminant, falcant, set non averant nec husbotant nec brasiant; quod mirum videtur, cum quodlibet reddat vij solidos et v denarios, more illorum quæ averant, nec dant gallinas, nec ova; Summa redditus xxiiij s. iij d.

Jugum Willielmi de Beudrege, quod dicitur liberum, par est uni jugo Ricardi de Pirie in redditu et consuetudine, excepto quod non husbotat;

Jugum de Rengesdune, quod reddit vij solidos, et jugum de Beudrege, et xxvij juga et dimidium et una virgata quorum quodlibet reddit per annum vij solidos et v denarios, sunt de numero vj librarum et excrescunt xij denarii et iij quadrantes;

Liberum jugum Willielmi de Beudrege reddit per annum cum istis, vij solidos et v denarios, husbotat, set non brasiat;

Similiter jugum liberum Stephani de Rengesdune non averat neque brasiat, set husbotat, et reddit tantum vij solidos, scilicet xl denarios de antiquo et xliij denarios de novo;

Dimidium jugum de Denilonde reddit sicud alia, et tamen non est de illis quæ reddunt vj libras; husbotat, averat, non brasiat nec habet partem in nemore, licet reddat more illorum quæ habent boscum;

Triginta duo juga et una virgata sunt apud Wy, scilicet xxvj juga averantia et dimidium et j virgata, et jugum de Henwode, et dimidium jugum de Denilonde, et duo juga de Rengesdune et de Beudrege, et duo juga apud Kingessnode; Reddunt in die Sancti Michaelis xx solidos pro husbote, scilicet jugum vij d. et ob.

Viginti vij juga et dimidium et una virgata sunt de vj libris, et faciunt omnes consuetudines pariter, sine exceptione, et ideo patre mortuo successor dat relevium, scilicet xl denarios;

Similiter dimidium jugum de Denilonde facit omnes consuetudines præter brasium, et dat relevium secundum redditum;

Similiter jugum de Rengesdune et de Beudrege dant relevium patre mortuo xl d., secundum antiquum redditum, et hoc quia husbotant;

Omnia alia juga tantum dant de relevio quantum de redditu.

Similiter duo juga de Kingessnode tantum dant de relevio quantum de redditu, licet husbotent; Item ista duo averant set non brasiant, et quia non brasiant, debent portare pisas vel fabas in cursu suo, et debent super duo averagia in tribus septimanis; Item ista duo juga non reddunt sicut alia de Wy vij solidos et v denarios, nec dimidium jugum quod dicitur Denilonde quod est in paruchia de Wivelesberge, et ideo non sunt de numero sex librarum.

Quodlibet jugum de triginta et una virgata debet unum averagium in iij septimanis;

Quodlibet jugum de xxvij et iij virgatis debet arare in hieme unam acram et dimidiam, et post Natale Domini iterum acram et dimidiam; metere, ligare, coppare, falcare unam acram, vertere, cumulare, et ducere intus;

In crastino Purificationis xxvij juga et dimidium et una virgata reddunt pro brasio xx solidos, scilicet jugum ix denarios;

Heredes Ricardi de Pirie tenent tria juga et unam virgatam quæ faciunt omnes consuetudines in redditu, arura, seminata, falchatura, sicut alia; set non husbotant nec averant nec brasiant; Reddunt autem de quolibet jugo vij solidos et v denarios sicut illa de vj libris, set non sunt de illis; unde videtur quod debeant averare, brasiare, husbotare;

Willielmus de Beudrege tenet unum jugum quod est par hereditibus Ricardi de Pirie, præter quod husbotat, et est de sex libris.

Lx juga et dimidium sunt apud Wy, quorum triginta et una virgata averant, et quodlibet averariorum reddebat antiquitus xl denarios; Triginta alia juga et una virgata sunt libera.

In villa de Wy sunt xxvj juga servilia et dimidium, averantia, brasiantia, et una virgata quæ dicitur Throstesierd, q[uæ] non h[abe]t nemus suum sine redditu sicut alia; et jugum unum in paruchia de Wivelesberge scilicet Henwode, quod habet dennam suam per se; et dimidium jugum de Denilonde, et duo juga in Kingessnode.

Duo juga de Rengesdune sunt libera nominata, et jugum de Beudrege, quæ husbotant et sunt de numero vj librarum; Tamen jugum de Rengesdune non dat xlix denarios præter antiquum redditum sicut alia, set xliij denarios; Item neutrum istorum brasiat; Ista duo juga habent boscum in nemore, scilicet acram pro ij denarios, quia Rengesdune x acras pro xx denarios;

Similiter apud Beudrege est unum jugum liberum quia nullum facit averagium sicut nec alia libera; De illo tamen datur husbote et xlix d. per annum, et habet x acras de bosco in nemore pro xx denarios, et non brasiat;

Aliud est jugum apud Beudrege habens x acras de bosco sine redditu, et per hoc probatur quod est servile sicut alia, et facit omnia averagia sicut alia;

Dimidium jugum de Denilonde par est aliis in redditu et husbote set non in brasio, unde nichil dat de xx solidis, nec habet boscum in nemore;

Ista xxix juga et dimidium et una virgata, scilicet xxvij juga et dimidium averantia et brasiantia, et una virgata quæ dicitur Throstesierd, et duo juga dicta libera de Rengesdune, et de Beudrege, reddunt præter antiquum redditum vj libras, et excrescunt xij denarii et iij quadrantes.

Omnia juga quæ debent arare debent vertere aratra sua versus terram domini in vigilia Sancti Martini, et feria proxima post, sine summonitione, arare in terra domini, et qui non facit in misericordia domini de xxj denariis; Similiter in vigilia Sancti Gregorii;

Si Sabbato non venerit ad averandum, nec in die Lunæ venerit ad Bellum, erit in misericordia de xxj d.; et potest Bedellus suplere, et habebit vj denarios, et averabit ad proprium custum et cibum semel in iij ebdomadis.

Triginta sunt juga et una virgata averantia, scilicet xxvij et dimidium et una virgata, et Denilonde, et duo juga de Kingessnode;

Undecim libera quæ reddunt in uno redditum suum, Seievetune, Plumtune, Crumdale, Vannescumbe; xxvij juga et dimidium et una virgata habent boscum in Kingeswode sine redditu, quodlibet x acras;

Summa acrarum cc lxvij et dimidia.

GLOSSARY.

Ambra, a dry measure containing four bushels.

Arura, the service of ploughing.

Assewiatus, dried up or drained. (Fr. Asseicher.)

Averagium, service in carrying (from Averia, beasts of burden).

Averare, or Averagiare, to perform carrying service.

Averia, plur., beasts of burden.

Baculus, a staff of office; also, metaphorically, the office itself; "baculus debet currere a festo Sancti Michaelis usque ad Nativitatem" (p. 126).

Bedripes, services performed at the harvest or Autumnal Precariæ, so called because the tenants were then bidden to reap. (Saxon, biddan-ripan.) These services were also occasionally termed "Nedbedripes," or Need-bedripes, the fourth precaria, when a fourth was required, being frequently styled "Hunger-bedrip," probably because on that occasion food was always furnished to the tenant by the lord of the manor, which was not an invariable rule at the other precariæ.

Benerthe, a day's service in ploughing.

Bercator, a shepherd, or keeper of the sheep-walk.

Bericorn, barley.

Brasiare, to brew.

Brasium, malt.

Brocus, a thicket, or covert of brush-wood.

Campestres, level ground or flats; "Terra susana et campestris" (p. 18).

Carriata, a cart-load.

Caruca, a plough-team.

Carucarius, a ploughman.

Cervisia, ale.

Cherset, Church-scot or Church-shot.

A customary payment made by the tenants of the manor at Easter, sometimes in money and sometimes in hens. Originally it appears to have been a measure of wheat given by every man on St. Martin's Day to Holy Church as first-fruits.

Cheveruns, rafters (Fr. Chevron), (p. 29).

Clata, a hurdle.

Claustura, brushwood for hedges or fences; "debent prosternere et cariare claustrum ad tres curias" (p. 34).

Clausum, a close.

Companagium, anything eaten with bread.

Coppare, to cock hay, or set it out in cocks.

Coronari, to be made a priest or clerk by receiving the "corona clericalis" or tonsure.

Corrigia, a band or cord.

Cotsetlus, a cottage, or cottage tenement.

 Fraxinus, an ash-tree.
 Fugator, a driver or teamster.

Gavelmed, meadow-land assigned to the tenants during a certain portion of the year as pasture (p. 51).
 Gavelmerke, a hedge or fence so called, which probably separated the tenants' lands, or those which paid rent or gafol, from the demesne (p. 6).
 Glanis, or Glandis, mast, i.e. the fruit of the oak, beech, chestnut, &c., on which swine were fed.
 Grasacra, a graze-acre or service in ploughing.
 Graserthe, or Graserxe, a ploughing service, or literally "graze-earth."
 Grava, a grove.
 Gula Augusti, the 1st of August, or Lammas Day.

Haia, a hedge or fence; also an enclosure surrounded by a hedge.

 Herciare, to harrow.
 Hersura, the service of harrowing.
 Herthyeld, hearth-penny.
 Hlosa, a sheep-cote (p. 29).
 Hockday, the Tuesday within the quinzaine of Easter, kept as a holiday in commemoration of the slaughter of the Danes in England. A term at which rent was generally payable.
 Horsgabulum, horse-gafol, or payment in lieu of carrying service.
 Hungerbedrip, see "Bedripes."
 Husbota, to pay husbote.

Husbote, the right of taking from the lord's wood the necessary timber for the repair or support of a house; also the sum paid for that privilege.

Inparcare, to impound (p. 51).

Jantaculum, breakfast.
 Jugum, a yoke of land, equivalent to a hide.
 Jumentum, a mare.

Kydellus, a kiddle or fishing-net, such as is now called a kettle-net and frequently used on the coasts of Kent and Wales.
